out from New South Wales, and subsequently from England These pioneer women endured hardships from which those who spent their lives in Hawaii were spared. The Maoris, or aborigines, among whom they lived, were a wurlike people, and from 1814 until their final submission hostilities were always imminent, massacres occuring in which neither age nor sex was spared.

As it was a long voyage from England, only the most enterprising women had the courage to emigrate, and this, undoubtedly, had its effect upon the present British population, who, men and women both are the very flower of the British colonists. They are surprisingly tall, athletic, with fresh, rosy complexions, and notwithstanding the enormous quantities of teat they consume, strong and night.

Because of their fewness, the women of New Zealand were treated with distinguished favor, and their children and grandchildren have reaped the benefits. The universimany years, awarding women derees with a justice that Oxford and ambridge might well emulate. In 1893, after several years of bersevering work, the bill legalizing universal suffrage | was passed A franchise league, of which Mrs. Duldy of Auckland was president and Mrs. Kitson secretary/ was the medlum through which the preliminary work was carried on.

One of the leaders of the suffrage movement was Lady Annie Stout, the wife of the chief justice. On the day of the first election Lady Stout officiated are an election judge, sit-ting all day in the polling booths in one of the worst districts of Dune-a remarkable fact that of the total number of women curolled at the first election after they were enfronsmised over 91 per cent, voted.

After the suffrage bill was passed the franchise league disbanded, but reorganized immediately under the title of the Woman's Political Education League. Systematic study of political questions was taken up. and the result has been one of the most intelligent voting classes in the world. As to the result, its entire success may be inferred from the fact that a few years ago one solitury member rose in Parliament to more the abrogation of the law, he could not get a seconder, and sat down amid roars of laughter, it was the death of opposition to woman suffrage,

The women of Australia are some what more conventional than those OF NAME VALUE OF THE OWNER.

A Study In Poker.

One journalist who is an expert in practical psychology walked a coupleof squares with a member of the cabinet trying to elicit an expression of opinion on a certain matter of moment. The secretary's tips were as firmly functioned as the stiller of a Hingham que tild dawn inprocess kinds the styles of all the dealerd. The dawn in improcess kinds the styles of all the tips of the styles of the "Inst word," was concerned or even a hint of the situation. The reporter hazarded a women who visited New Zealand guess founded on his impressions and were the wives of missionaries sent wired the result to his paper. The next day the secretary met him and said:

"How did you get that information. Mr. --- ?"

"From you, sir." said the reporter.

"From me, sir?" said the secretary. "I never said a word."

"That is so," replied the correspondent, "but you acted it."

"Well you were wrong in some things, anyhow. Still, I think I'll have i to take a course of congressional noker playing until I can disguise my thoughts."

"Such people are the casiest of all to

"And how do you do it?"

"Why, you rend their hands by reversing their expression. The man who seems to bet on an ace full probably holds a bobtall flush, and the disconsolate surveyor of a probable bobtail flush is likely laying for you with the ace full, and there you are. There is always some way to figure it out."

Development of the Hammer

Man's first tool was the unlifted hand grasping a stone, and from this came. after many years, the hammer. As beavier blows became necessary the hammer grew in size, until it was operated by machinery in the form of the tilt or helve hammer. When steam succeeded water as a motive power, a steam cylinder replaced the tripping cam, but the first half of the past century find nearly expired before the original form of this tool was at all changed by James Nasmyth's invention of the upright steam hammer.

Since then the falling weight of this design of tool has gradually been increased from a few hundred nounds un to 100 and even 125 tons, but excepting the smaller sizes up to 25 tons it lias since 1890 been superseded by the hydraulic press, which by its slow motion produces a more thorough working of the metal. Presses have grown until the capacity of 14,000 tons was reached, requiring a 15,000 horsepower engine to drive it. Such a tool, with its accompaniment of 200 ton electric cranes for handling the work undermeath, is capable of forging ingots over 75 inches in diameter and weighing more than 250,000 pounds.

The other day a person dropped down in an apopiectic fit immediately front of a police station and was you ried inside. a moment after д weign forced her way in through the crowd gathered around the door, exclaiming: "My bushand! My poor musbaud!

The Effects of Ammonia.

The effects of ammonia upon the complexion are directly the orbusite to that of arsenic. The first symptom of ammonia poisoning which appears among those who work in animonia factories is a discoloration of the skin of the nose and the forehead. This gradually extends over the face until the complexion has a stained, blotched and unsightly appearance. With people who take ammonia into their systerns in smaller doses as with their water or food, these striking symptoms do not appear so soon. The only effect of the polson that is visible for a time is a general unwholesomeness and sallowness of the complexion.
